

Errata in Proposed Material Alterations to Draft Longford County Development Plan 2021-2027

20th July 2021

Please Note:

The following clerical errors have been identified in the Proposed Material Alterations to the Draft Longford County Development Plan 2021-2027: Volume 2 Appendices (printed and online versions published on the 12th July 2021) –

Drumlish Zoning Area A Map and associated Proposed Amendment no. AP.1D.11.

In respect of the Drumlish Zoning Area A Map, the previous map incorrectly attributed a 'Town Core' zoning objective to undeveloped lands which are also located within an 'Area of Constrained Land Use'. However this was a mapping error and these lands should have been unzoned.

This is in accordance with the Chief Executive Recommendation as agreed by the elected members, as incorporated in Proposed Amendment AP.1D.11:

'Amend the zoning map so that no further development or other zoning is included on the 'constrained land use' objective'.

To correct this error the incorrect mapping of 'Town Core' zoning on lands which are also located on an 'Area of Constrained Land Use', is to be removed and become unzoned. Drumlish Area A Zoning Map has been amended (see inclusion of land parcel no. 52); and the inclusion of reference in the text in relation to identifying the relevant land parcel has been included in Proposed Amendment no. AP.1D.11 which relates.

The Proposed Material Alterations to the Draft Plan: Volume 2 Appendices has been corrected accordingly, including the online version on our website.
